

IF YOU WERE HERE NOW

If you were here now we'd probably hold hands
We'd probably kiss and while away the hours
If you were here now, you'd stare into my eyes
We'd probably laugh and talk about love's powers

But that was not the way it was meant to be
But that was not the way it was meant to be it was meant to be

If you weren't a picture fading on my wall
You'd probably smile and stop my mood from sinking
If you weren't a thought, hanging in my mind
We'd probably embrace and tell me to stop thinking

But that was not the way it was meant to be
But that was not the way it was meant to be it was meant to be

Ooh, ooh, ooh

But that was not the way it was meant to be
But that was not the way it was meant to be it was meant to be

If you were here now we'd probably hold hands

If you were here nowit was meant to be
If you were here nowit was meant to be
If you were here nowit was meant to be
If you were here nowit was meant to be

If you were here now!
